THE KNOCKOUT PICTURE OF THE YEAR!

Don't fail to get a stuporific seat at your favorite movie theater to see Wallace Thewissen as "The Champ" fight for his boy, Duke (Jackie Cooper). You will be thrilled beyond words by this story of a battered, broken-down pugilist trying to stage a comeback because his boy believes him to be the greatest fighter in the world. You will not be ashamed to break away a tear as the Champ makes his last great effort for his boy. And you will cry, with millions of other movie fans, "Theory is great — Jackie Cooper is marvelous — The Champ is truly the kindest picture of the year!"

He loved this boy all his money, that anything else in the world—but knew that the best thing he could do for him was to get out of his life honest . . . a wonderful question and about in a picture
you will never know

TALKIE TIPS

The pretty lady in the simple costume is Constance Talmadge. She stars this week in the talkie, "The Great Girl," with Warner Baxter. The action is old California, the setting is a town in 1910. You, and the picture's "The Great Girl."

Opal Graham and Paul Stone do a little something for the picture of "Telling Father Mother's Secrets," with Paul Stone in the lead. They're dressed in modern, it's a picture you can't have too much.

Maria Fawcett in the lead with the comedy lady, the girl and there in a check-up (Warner Baxter and Maria Fawcett) and the girl in the talkie make up for the "Telling Father Mother's Secrets" to tell you it's "Telling Father Mother's Secrets."

These two pictures, who have already scored a hit in "Telling Father Mother's Secrets," are all set to repeat their success in "Telling Father Mother's Secrets," with Warner Baxter and Maria Fawcett. They're dressed in modern, it's a picture you can't have too much.

ALEXANDER HAMILTON. Warner Brothers. George Hill in an excellent impersonation of the famous statesman, with a cast which includes Davis Griggs, Jane Calver, Dudley Digges and Margaret Lane. A picture for Republicans and Democrats.

AN AMERICAN TRAGEDY. Paramount. Right, you haven't seen it yet. Well, you'll better watch right down to your neighborhood theatre, or we'll tell Mr. Toddy Dingle, Sylvia Sydney and Phillips Holmes have the leads, and they're splendid.

ARE THESE OUR CHILDREN? RKO. Radio. The Younger Generation, filmed in song and story, is given a thoroughly going over by Bernard Hitchcock and Wesley Ruggles, at the very and magnificent, respectively. Cast includes Arlene Judge, Eric Linden, Ben Alexander and Barbara Cole. Well worth seeing.

BALL OF FIRE. Fox. James Dunn, who has only been in Hollywood about fifteen minutes, scores a personal triumph in this tale of turbulent love in the Bronx. And the same may be said for Sally Ewell, who is swell as the girl. See it, by all means.

BLOOD IS CRAZY. Warner Brothers. Head life in the ring, with much delicious business by James Cagney and Jack Randall. You don't have to believe us, but we think making this is most fun than anything.

BUSINESS AND PLEASURE. Fox. In the course of his travels Will Rogers catches a war in Berlin, gets himself trapped by Jerry Goddard, and finds time to do something about some business in which business he is involved. A lively Rogers vehicle.

COMPROMISED. Fox National. Ben Lyon, cast as Ross Robert's husband, starts killing the gay phase without Ross, and things look pretty black until a little child comes to lead them back to happiness.

CONVICTED. Arden. A tense and fast-moving mystery drama with its action around an ocean liner. We'll bet a show you can't guess the identity of the murderer before the final scenes. Arden Frings, Harry Messer and Dorothy Christy lead the cast.

CRIMINAL MINDS. RKO-Paula. Ann Harding leads behind her criminal specialties during most of the picture, but we like her anyway. Story is a comedy-drama, and it's expertly handled by her and an unusual supporting cast headed by Lucile Broward. Not to be missed.

EAST OF EDEN. Universal. Just imagine good old Charlie Rickford practically surrounded by wild animals, with nothing but his love for Ross Robert to hold his courage. Just imagine. Lots of thrilling stuff, if you like your animals wild.

EXPENSIVE WOMEN. Warner Brothers. Barbara Connelley makes her return to the screen in a vehicle that should have been sent to the garage for repairs. Barbara is as beautiful as ever, and if you like her you probably won't mind the way she's worn down.

FANNY FOLDS HERSELF. RKO-Paula. Edna May Oliver's first starring picture, and she's grand in a comedy-drama which returns to look after her darling daughter, Helen Chandler, and Kenneth Hudson. This may be a real winner.

FIFTY FATHOMS DEEP. Columbia. Here's a picture that gets right down to the bottom of things (The ocean—get it?) Richard Cromwell makes a tremendous lady who goes out to be an old friend of Ross Robert's. Gary.

FIVE STAR FIVE. Fox National. Still one of the better offerings of the season, comes with Edward G. Robinson, Marion March and H. B. Warner giving their all for your entertainment. Fox is on your list before it's too late.

FRIENDS AND LOVERS. RKO-Paula. Five old Hollywood players give him, well, all brought up in a web of mystery woven by Lily Brando and Eric van Hatten, and it's actually work and work before things straighten out. Good drama.

GET-RICH-QUICK. WALLINGTON. M-G-M. William Haines in what is really his best role in years. To make things even better, his supporting cast is headed by Ernest Torrence, Lila Hyman and Frances Gorman. Wonderful with the talkie.

HEARTBREAK. Fox. Charles Farrell as an American artist who falls in love with an American woman (Marilyn Ross). In an old conceit, Charles unknowingly kills his own. (Continued on page 41)

The fellow in the conventional attire is Ross Robert. Wonderful story location, who makes his return, about it, "Telling Father Mother's Secrets." The lady with the boy is Barbara Connelley and others look pretty black for Ross.

Edward G. Robinson, who is, undoubtedly, the best in the business, is a daughter of the old South, and he's doing some things in the new South. He's a son of "Telling Father Mother's Secrets."

YESTERDAY'S SIZZLERS

5. DANCE FROM "THERE ARE ANGELS IN THE SKY" STARRING MARION MORROW.

Now who can this head-bobber represent? Well, of all things! It's Clara Bow! That's Maude Blue with the hungry look in his eyes. He looks so good. Immense little wretch! Maybe she won't be able to do anything about it, but the camera will.

This one, given, tripping daintily about in the reel, is not, as you might have expected, one of the well-remembered Mark Bennett burlesque routines, but your old friend Florence "Fatty" Arbuckle. He was always a honey when it came to "bread" burlesques.

Temperament in the Talkies

IT WAS on a movie set. Director Hallowstone was furious. He was pacing up and down muttering one syllable words and that was always a sure sign he'd become excited.

No one dared go near the director when he was raging so. That is, no one but Jesse Finney, the producer. He was paying Hallowstone to direct pictures and not pace up and down like a madman. That was why he had no fear.

"What's all the trouble about?" inquired Jesse.

"I can't get that new handsome leading man you hired to face the camera!" screamed Hallowstone, out of breath from so much pacing.

The producer was indeed surprised, or in other words, surprised.

"What's the matter, is he lunkful?"

"No," started the director, "he's too darn proud of his profile!"

SARCASM

Hubby—Don't let the lady put that quarter in his mouth, these are gonna go in.

MOTHER KNOWS BEST

"Your daughter is leaving college, I hear. When do you expect her to come home?"

"About three o'clock every morning."

"Hey, ol' man, did you drop that?"

Business Before Pleasure

TWO business men were laughing together. The first, a disciple of economy, was relating to the other the various economical changes he had made and how much money he was saving as a result.

"Well," finally interrupted the second, "I've been saving quite a bit of money myself lately. I discharged my blonde secretary and hired a young man at forty-five dollars a week."

"What salary did you pay the girl?" asked the first.

"Twenty-five dollars."

"Where's the saving there?"

"Well, I don't have to give so many presents to my wife now."

The Mad Genius

Monkey Business

THERE'S no denying that this is the best John Barrymore flicker since Dan Jago scorched the screen. It skips swiftly along without a moment's let-up is interest. The story is colorful, the acting masterful, the humor plentiful, and the production spectacular. The Mad Genius has everything that makes for superior screenfare.

That reads like an advertisement, but it's not—it's a rave over one of the most entertaining flickers Ye Ed has approached.

John "Foodle" Barrymore, giving a thoroughly believable interpretation, is a club-hoisted genius of the theatre.

John "Foodle" Barrymore, giving a thoroughly believable interpretation, is a club-hoisted genius of the theatre. He makes a great dancer of Foodle (Donald Cook), a youth he'd kidnapped years ago when he was touring the countryside with a Marie-Louise show. The boy had been watching the show and his great step-father threatened him for doing so. The little fellow broke loose from the beating and John hid him from the enraged step-father. John noticed the quickness of his legs and the shadiness of his lips. He decided it would be wise to take him away and make a dancer of him. He had always wanted to be one himself, but Nature had deprived him of that happiness. He would make the boy the great dancer he wanted to be!

Through John's careful training, Foodle is headed for world renown. That is, until he mingles in love with Marian Marie, one of the dancing girls in the troupe.

John believes that love has no place in the life of an artist and attempts to separate the lovers. The boy overthrows one of John's schemes to get rid of Marian and immediately withdraws from the show. He takes Marian to Paris. But John has him under contract and he can get no work, except in small cabarets.

Eventually, Marian goes to John and promises she will go out of Foodle's life if only he will be taken back and his career continued. John insists that she must do more than go away. She must go away with another man. That would positively make Foodle forget her. She agrees and goes away with a nobleman whose advances

THE actors are carrying 'em out of the sides again and once more those Four Marx Brothers are to blame. They're back with another terrific carnival—nearly their funniest! It's a positive scream! If you do laughing, don't say you weren't warned.

They're stowaways on an ocean liner, hiding, of all places, in padded-lamming barrels. They're caught, but there's no putting them in the "brig." The captain is lucky they don't toss him in.

To help along the plot (what there is of it), there are two snuggly gang leaders on board, Alky Boggs and Joe Helson. Groochio and Zoppo are hired as bodyguards for Alky, and Chico and Harpo for Joe. So neither gangster is really safe.

You must have love interest in your talkies, so Zoppo and Joe's daughter (Nath Hall) fall in love and you have it.

All got off the ship after much slapstick with the Customs officials, and attend a big party thrown by Joe. It seems, the body-guard jobs are still good.

The party is bounding merrily along until Alky arrives and kidnap Ruthie. He takes her away in a high-powered car and hides her in a barn. Groochio, Harpo, Chico and Zoppo combine for the rescue and it's the Four Marx Brothers, in person, who, eventually, save Ruthie from Alky, and, most likely, a fate worse than death.

Harpo tests his familiar "mushberry" here throughout, and chases the girls all over the place when there's nothing else for him to do. Time and again, he threatens to stomp away the laugh lines from Groochio, but leave it to Groochio to always come through with a paralytic of a gag so that he's well on top when the final laugh comes in talkies.

The reason some is a real whirlwind with Zoppo (who had little to do up to this kidding point) doing most of the roughhouse in combat with Alky, and Groochio, high up in the left, pretending to be Graham MacNaboo or somebody at the ring-side.

There's something to howl at all the way in Monkey Business and the only complaint is that there's not enough of it! There's only one remedy for this lark—you'll have to stay and see it twice.

The three cheering for this month, naturally, goes to Groochio Chico for his delightfully tongue action in "Monkey Business" and for his police remark—a boss who blames his strong after working hours ought to be ashamed of himself, it should take only five minutes!

All Good Things Must Come To An End!

It is with regret that we announce the ending of Film Funnies. When the game was first introduced in the March issue of Film Fun in 1936, it immediately became intensely popular with the readers. Contributions poured in from all over United States, Canada, and many foreign countries.

Each month the contributions would improve. At first, contributors confined their efforts to the making of humorous faces. From this they advanced to creating figures of people and of animals. The next step was having the people or animals in various situations.

The entries were almost evenly divided between the girls and fellows. And, although no checking has been made, it is believed as many girls had Film Funnies published as did fellows.

The best Film Funnies printed during the course of the game would be difficult to select. In fact, impossible. There were so many exceptionally fine ones, that it would be a positive injustice to name one and say it was better than all the others.

The game is being stopped, not because its popularity has decreased, but for fear that, if it continues any longer, such might be the case. So, it was decided to conclude Film Funnies while it was still going strong and in good favor with the readers.

We're glad you liked it so much. It was a delight each month to go through the countless Film Funnies submitted and select the ones worthy of publication.

And now that Film Funnies is ending, a new game, entirely different, will appear shortly. We hope it proves as interesting to you as did Film Funnies.

Meanwhile, gang, be sure and submit a Film Fun Funnies. Have you seen the ones in this issue? They're awfully clever. See if you can do as well. Film Fun pays three dollars for each one printed. Get busy.

Film Fun not only wishes to thank all who, at some time or another, participated in the game of Film Funnies, but also to express regret that each contributor didn't have a Film Funnies appear in Film Fun and be paid five dollars for it.

$10,000.00 in PRIZES!

DOZENS of persons have won prizes up to $3,420.00 through our "modern advertising" offers this year. Blacksmiths, jewelers, dressmakers, farmers, shopkeepers, clerks, housewives and schoolboys—these are just a few of the classes represented in our most recent lists of prize winners. Men and women of every age have an equal chance to win. In the next three or four months we will award thousands of dollars to fortunate people who answer our advertisements. Here's our newest puzzle!

Qualify for the Opportunity to Win $4250.00

In the accompanying picture you will find 15 passengers hurrying to take their places in the huge airplane. If you look sharp you will see that many of these passengers look alike—that is, ALMOST alike. Actually, TWO AND ONLY TWO are exactly alike—identical in their hats, coats and the baggage they carry. Some carry coats on the left arm, some on the right arm. Some are carrying a bag in the left hand, others in the right hand. The TWINS both carry their baggage in the same hand. Even in size and pose the twins are absolutely alike. Study the passengers closely. CAN YOU FIND THE TWINS?

$750.00 Extra for Promptness

There are dozens of prizes totaling $10,000.00 and First Prize will be $3,420.00. You will receive $750.00 extra if you are prompt and win first prize, making the total you can win $4,170.00. We have arranged so that if the winner chooses, he or she can have either the $3,420.00 or a big new 100-horsepower airplane. Send YOUR answer at once. No obligation now or ever. Duplicate prizes in case of ties. Examine the picture closely. Do not make a mistake. (Persons living in Chicago or outside U. S. & C. not permitted to compete.) Send no money! Simply mail the number of the passenger WITH twins are the twins, on a postcard or in a letter, for entrance to the puzzle judged! That's all, but RUSH your answer today!

JACKIE COOPER'S salary is an interesting arrangement. It calls for $1,000 weekly. One of that, the youngster is allowed $400 a week, the remainder going into a trust fund which he cannot touch until of age. His mother, Mrs. Hibel Cooper, receives a salary of $75 a week as her son's guardian. His grandmother also comes in for $25 a week. His household expenses for the week cost $100 and the same amount is deposited in an emergency savings account. Jackie's schooling costs $30 a week. Because Jackie is a minor, all of his contracts are supervised by law and must be legalised before they become binding. But Jackie is still very much of a kid and shows much more interest in a chocolate ice cream soda than in his father's contract.

THE work of assistant directors has always been somewhat of a mystery to most movie fans. In an effort to help clear up the mystery, herewith are a few of the duties of an assistant director. He directs the atmosphere players; he sees to it that all settings are okay; he makes sure that all the players are on the set when the director is ready to begin work; all arrangements for location trips are made by the assistant director; he assigns dressing rooms to the players; he keeps the company up on schedule; takes care of the costumes; takes charge of make-up men; manages all extras; keeps a chart of the working hours of all extras, players and technicians; and he must be free, at all times, to do odd jobs for the director. All of which is very discouraging to any one having aspirations of becoming an assistant director!

YOU can't beat Hollywood for popular happenings. All sorts of things happen every day that are worthy of notice and comment. One of the choicest took place recently. Leila Hyams was cast in a picture in which she was to have a mother and father. It was suggested that it might be a bright idea if her own mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. John Hyams (formerly Hyams and McIntyre of vaudeville fame) were assigned to the roles. They had had considerable stage experience and, unquestionably, could handle the parts skillfully. So they were summoned by the casting office to appear in their daughter's picture. But then they were faced to submit to a screen test and the verdict by the higher-ups, after viewing the result was, "Sorry, they're not the type!"

THE FRATERNAL SPIRIT

First Movie Actress—My next film is going to be a wonder picture.
Second Movie Actress—Yes, everybody'll wonder why it was ever made.

DID you know that as soon as United Artists announced Eddie Caster would make "The Kid From Spain" three hundred dark-eyed girls at the Latin type started the casting office? That producers are now after stories about good girls who are able to withstand temptation, being fairly well convinced that the bad girl stories no longer appeal to the public? Or that Pat O'Brien was originally slated for the lead in "The Lost Squadron" instead of Richard Dix? That Joan Crawford used to work in a cafe in Milwaukee? Or are you aware that Charlie Chaplin would just as soon remain in England as return to Hollywood? That Eddie Quinn, an expert golfer, is a member of the Hole-in-One Club? And that Radio has signed Erik Wallare, internationally famous mystery story writer, to come to Hollywood and write original scenarios? Or that Renee Adams is still in a sanitarium in Arizona?

CHANCES GALORE!

First Producer—Has our new director been given plenty of chances to show his versatility?

Second Producer—Yes, we've let him direct the same play in six different settings.

SPEAKING of blunders, as practically everyone does, we recently enjoyed a visit to the Greenwich Village apartment of Paramount's new leading lady, Miriam Hopkins. She had just arrived from Hollywood and was cooling in a couple of weeks of hectic riot in New York before returning to the coast. Miriam's view about pictures, is giving up her New York apartment and doesn't expect to return to the stage until after a few more flings at flickers. She'll soon be a free lady, as she and her mother-in-law, Auntie Parker, are securing a divorce. It's one of those friendly arrangements. They're still pals—in fact, they take each other to dinner several times a week, and, what's more, they never fight!

SAFETY FIRST

Adventure Customer—One more drink of this stuff and I'll forget everything!

Waiter—Sir, pardon me, sir. Here's your check.

TELEVISION in theatres is not far off. B. S. Moss has installed the Sentera System in his Broadway Theatre in New York City and, although it's far from perfect, audiences are amazed at the progress already made. It's worked very much like radio broadcasting. The artist stands before a regular microphone in front of which is a cluster of eight television receivers (about the same size and looking very much like automobile headlights). These receivers pick up a picture of the artist and transform it into electricity which is instantly transmitted to a projection screen (any distance away) accompanied by the sound of the artist's voice. The main difficulty now seems to be in getting a clear picture on the projection screen. This is expected to be overcome in the near future. Incidentally, the screen is a sheet of ground glass. Optimistic television experts believe that within a few years a play given in a New York theatre will be televised successfully to theatres in all parts of the world.

THE Chatter Continues: Like many other movie actresses Greta Garbo is anxious to do a play on Broadway... Madge Evans, who was a star some years ago as a child actress, is again on her way to stardom... Lloyd Hamilton, whose leg was broken in three places in an auto accident, is suing for $52,500... Harry Carey is quitting the movies and going back to his ranch... Stan Smith, after a year's absence in musical comedy, is returning to Paramount... Rex Lease is recovering from injuries received while on location... Lil Dagover, the German star imported by Warners, will have Walter Houston as her leading man in her first American made film, which is called "The Captain's Wife"... Buster Kraton's "Suburra of New York" took quite a smashing from the censors because of certain scenes in which kids were seen smoking... Vicki Baum, let out by Paramount, has been signed on a long term contract by M-G-M... Janet Gaynor is vacationing in Europe with her hubby and her mother... TWICE AS EASY to become a popular musician this simple home-study way

DOES the very thought of harsh-sounding scales—compulsory practice and impatient teachers put a damper on your ambition to become a popular musician?

With such excuses as—"It takes too long"—"It costs too much"—"I don't know the first thing about music"—are you abdicating yourself right out of good times and a highly enjoyable attainment?

You're the Boss

You'd take up music in a minute, wouldn't you?—if you thought there was a way of learning that made every lesson easy—that allowed you to study when, where and as much or as little as you please—that encouraged rapid progress—that did not run too much!

All right. Such a method is far from being imaginary. It is so real that hundreds of new short musical pop can learn to play your favorite instrument—without taking lessons from a teacher! Without paying expensive fees! Without any tiresome technique or dry-as-dust exercises to struggle through!

Thank the U. S. School of Music for the utter simplicity of this remarkable system. It removed completely the difficulty, tedium and extravagance from music lessons. It made possible the reading and playing of music from print and picture instruction. Now to begin your musical career you don't even have to know "do" from "re"—or a sharp from a flat. Isn't that good news?

What Could Be Easier?

Your own home is your studio. The lessons come to you by mail. They consist of complete printed instructions, diagrams . . . and all the music you need without extra charge.

A sheet of music is not a riddle to you. You never have to guess what's right or wrong; you know! First you are told how a thing is done. Then a picture shows you how, then you do it yourself and hear it. Small wonder it's easy as easy as milk-and-honey private teacher method.

Play Your Favorites

Instead of just making you are playing real tunes from actual notes—right from the very first lesson on. Because when you realize you will be bringing them to the table at home with your playing.

Gradually you gain confidence and professional expression.

Then, parties, popularity, endless work follow in short order. You'll know how good it feels to be out of the willpower class and into the whirl of things—to be able to provide musical enjoyment for others when very few can really open.

Don't be afraid to begin your lessons at once. Don't let hundreds of sad people learned to play this modern way—and found it easy as A-B-C. Forget that old-fashioned idea that you need special "talent." You read the list of instruments in the panel, decide which one you want to play, and the U. S. School will do the rest. And here is noted no matter which instrument you choose, the cost in each case will average the same—just a few cents a day.

Free Book and

Demonstration Lesson

Our wonderful, illustrated Free Book and Free Demonstration Lesson explain all about this remarkable method. They prove just how anyone can learn to play his favorite instrument in half the time and for just a fraction of what old slow methods cost.

If you really want to learn to play—if you think, good times, social popularity, and increased income appeal to you—take this opportunity to make your dreams come true. Now! Sign the coupon and send it before it's too late. Instruments supplied when needed, cash or credit. U. S. School of Music, 601 Broadway Bldg., New York City.

The Mad Genius

she'd continually rejected.

Powder, taken back, becomes world famous. But one night in Berlin, he sees Marion in the audience. The rest you must find out for yourselves.

From that point on, the story moves at its fastest pace, ending with a gruesome climax, which, nevertheless, is a thrill not to be missed.

Charles Butterworth, as John's valet and general handyman, is given many an opportunity to show what a truly fine comedian he is. His story of the Spanish buller he composed is one of the picture's high-spots.

The Mad Genius should top your list of pictures to see.

Susan Lennox, Her Fall and Rise

NO matter which way you look at it, they haven't done right by our Greta in Susan Lennox, Her Fall and Rise. To begin with, it's a frightfully unexciting story. A tale they've been doing ever since motion began and there seems to be positively no let-up of it in sight. As the heroine, Greta's life is one great big struggle. When she runs away from one man of trouble, she always runs headlong into another man even more troublesome.

Greta's a girl who never had a pappy and whose mother died when she was born. A hard-boiled uncle (Jesse Hersholt) brought her up and, when she was old enough to marry, he insisted she wed a mean-looking guy (Alvin Karpis) she hardly knew. So Greta beats it away. And, of course, in keeping with movie tradition, she runs away at night with the wind howling and the rain falling as if another flood were due.

After much running thru the terrific storms, she reaches a cabin and so where does it belong but dear old heavy-limbed, good-natured Clark Gable. He takes Greta in, gives her dry clothes, food and assurance that no harm will come to her. He happens to be an engineer, single and the son of a wealthy man. They have no time in romancing in love, but then, fate staggers in, and Clark must go away for a while on business, leaving Greta alone.

No sooner does he leave than the infuriated uncle and jilted blower arrive to take Greta back to the farm. She gets away from them, and, after another mad dash for freedom, winds up as a dancer in a carnival show. She just had to do it for the sake of previous little scenarios!

Meanwhile, Clark has proven to be true-blue and, eventually, finds her. She's so happy. Now she can be taken away from hiswhere carnival life. But wait! John Miljan, the carnival owner looking the same as villains always do, steps in and passes a few blunt remarks which tip Clark off to the fact that Greta has forgotten a thing or two she learned in Sunday School. Clark, disillusioned, walks her off, mentioning something or other about the gutter and Greta swears vengeance.

Well, it goes on like that, finally

"I understand you were once staggering from a speakeasy last night. Had you been drinking?"

"No, it was the price they asked for their stuff that staggered me."

ending up in one of those joints below the border where Greta has become a dancer, knowing that Clark drops in there every so often.

She had her chances, her riches, but tossed them all aside to find love—and love to her was Clark, even though he did need a share. They'll begin now, that's what they'll do, and you know it all along. Greta's picture have been as consistently good that, after all, you must expect a disappointing one to pop up every now and then to remind you of her usual excellent offerings.

The Glue Kid

WHEN it comes to playing romantic, heart-of-gold villains, it's hard to name anyone who does the job as pleasantly, and with as much charm, as does Warner Baxter. Girls, you'll simply swoon when Warner turns on his profile and strums his melodic guitar, or when he cradles Conchita Montenegro to his heaving breast and tells her his love is as undying as the moon above. It'll get you.

The Glue Kid, as everyone who has read O. Henry knows, is the furred outlaw who robs the rich and gives what he takes to poor honest folk, let by the depression. He's the type of fellow who never kills a friend. A great guy, you must admit, but Uncle Sam didn't think so. It seems the Kid had walked away with somebody's cattle, and the government was so anxious to see him that it offered $5,000 for a chance to enjoy a nice quiet talk with him.

Here comes the plot:

Edmund Lowe, as Sergeant Mickey Dunn, sets out to look up our friend, the Kid, for the glory of the U. S. Army and that $5,000. He tracks him to a small border town, where he finds Warner making expert love to Conchita Montenegro, who, if you'll allow us to set the plot aside for a moment, is one of the comeliest darlings the screen has to offer these days. Warner makes a snappy get-away, but only after Eddie has plucked him in the shoulder. In a weakened condition, our hero, the villain, staggers into a farm house and collapses. With the tender care of the young widow (Nora Lane) who lives there, he's nursed back to health, and to show his gratitude he robs a nearby bank and pays off the mortgage on the lady's homestead.

At that moment, Eddie arrives, whips out his trusty A5, and has Warner practically where he wants him. However, when the pretty young widow tells him how Warner has paid off the mortgage, Eddie's sentimental self gets the upper hand. With a sigh, he returns Warner's gun and invites him to scream. And here enters the lesson.

The performances of Baxter and Lowe are superb; Conchita Montenegro is exotic and glamorous as the dance hall girl who loves The Glue Kid; and Nora Lane, as the widow, gives a natural and understanding portrayal. Even if you don't like the photography, alone, worth your while.

The TAX You Pay For FAT Millions Now Avoid It

One pays a high tax for excess weight, in youth and beauty, health and vim. And now it suggests an abnormal condition to people who ignore this fact.

Modern science has found that a great cause lies in a defective gland. A vital secretion is too scantily supplied. So much food (that should) pass to fuel and energy deposits itself in fat.

The Way Out

Doctors, the world over, now combat this condition by feeding the lacking element. The result is seen everywhere in slender figures, in youth and vim. All who look back are amazed to realize how fast excess fat has disappeared in but years. One great reason is this new discovery. Millions of people are heeding this gland factor, and largely by doctors' advice.

A Popular Form

This gland factor is the basis of Marmola prescription tablets. A famous medical laboratory has perfected this prescription to fit the average case. People have been taking Marmola for 31 years—millions of boxes of it. Our doctors now have told others, and the use has spread. Now in almost every state one can see the sign that Marmola does.

Those at Marmola have best results daily and continue to use it, and weight comes down to normal. No starvation, no over-exercise, but intelligent eating. A food is made here, given the tablets, can regulate itself. The reason is now why the fat goes and why you remain.

Are you troubled for a box of Marmola. Read the book, then watch results. Let Marmola prove to you, as it has to all, that this rule is right, the sure way to reduce. Use this now, in justice to yourself. It is wrong to let such conditions continue.

POSED BY SALLY EWELL IN ELIN BENNETT'S COSTUME FOR UNIVERSAL RELEASE.

Name of these movie actresses who go around boasting how their "stead" every picture they appear in, says Sally, should be credited for petty larceny.

According to Schedule

"NICE Women" has been completed at Universal and boasts of a fine cast of players, including Sidney Fox, Carmel Myers, Frances Dee, Alan Mowbray, Lucille Gluskin and Russell Gibson. Sidney, despite her misleading name, is rapidly becoming one of the favorites of the screen.

Doug Fairbanks, Jr., will next be seen in "Union Depot." Sounds like a railroad yarn, doesn't it? Well, don't be too sure in those days when a title seldom has anything to do with the story.

Maria Dreslow, after a helpful variation in the East, is back on the coast and has begun work on "Emma." Production of the picture was postponed several times owing to Maria's poor health. Joan Harsholt is in it.

Barbara Kent has the tentative lead opposite Tom Keene in RKO-Pathé's western feature, "Freighters of Destiny." She is a graduate of Hollywood High School and one of the few movie players who originally came from Hollywood.

Universal's "Frankenstein" is ready for release. It's a strong story with an equally strong cast. Among those featured are Colin Clive, especially brought over from England for the picture, Mae Clarke, John Bates and Boris Karloff. It's a huge spectacle along the lines of "The Hunchback of Notre Dame."

Dorothy Marshall's latest offering is "Vain Is Hell." William Wellman directed and they say it's just about the best role that Dorothy has had in some time.

Ralph Bellamy is now in "Discordantly Conducted," having replaced Victor McLaglen who was too busy on "While Paris Sleeps." Others in the cast of "Discordantly Conducted," are Sally Eilers, Lawrence O'Sullivan, Jesse De Vries and Marya Robert. John Considine, Jr., is directing.

William Bakewell and Sally O'Neil will be seen together in "First Cabin" for Fox. They made their respective film debuts together several years ago and later appeared in "On With The Show," the first talkie for each.

Gloria Swanson will sing two songs in "Tonight or Never," is being the story of an opera singer.

Work is getting along nicely on "Girl Crazy," the musical film in which Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey will star for Radio. The dialog is being written by Joseph Fields, son of Lew Fields of the famous old-time comedy team of Weber and Fields.

Ruth Chatterton is to have two leading men in "Tombstone and Tombstone," her next starring vehicle for Paramount. The gentlemen are Paul Lukas and Robert Ames.

"Husband's Holiday" is the bonafide title of a picture now ready for release featuring Olive Brook, Vivienne Osborne, Jacklyn Compston and a score of other prominent players. Ann Harding's husband, Harry Mannix, and John Halliday being among them.

Zane Grey's novel, "Rainbow Trail," has been made into a western thriller by Fox. George O'Brien, Merna Campbell, decidedly an opstel, and J. M. Kerrigan have the choice assignments. Bruce Allen is the comedian.

And speaking of western films, Buck Jones has completed another called "Huckleberry Finn." His leading lady is Mary Doran.

The strongest supporting cast which ever appeared with Greta Garbo will be seen in "Mata Hari," her next picture. Ramon Novarro, of course, is co-starred with her. Lionel Barrymore and Lewis Stone head the featured players. George Fitzmaurice is director.

Max March, who returned to the screen to play the another role in "Over the Hill," will continue in pictures, appearing in "Don'ts Lottery" in support of Charles Farrell and Sally Eilers.

Marlene Dietrich's "Shanghai Express" is ready. An especially constructed train, such as is used in China, appears in the picture. The Southern Pacific Railroad received hundreds of inquiries after the fantastic train ran on its tracks to "location" asking if it were being sent to China.

"Working Girls" has an extraordinary cast and, what's more, is being directed by Dorothy Arzner. Here are a few of the players: Paul Lukas, Buddy Rogers, Stuart Erwin, Judith Wood, Frances Dee, Alberta Vaughn, and Dorothy Hall.

Constance Bennett's "Lady With a Past" is finished and Director Edward H. Griffith, according to reports, has turned out an exceptionally good picture. David Mannes is her leading man.

"Frontage" will soon be completed, it being Ann Harding's next starring vehicle. It is a story of Indo-China.

"The Last Mile," the emotional play of prison life, is finally to be made into a talkie. James Cagney will produce in the Tiffany.

Rin-Tin-Tin, the wonder dog, is now a serial hero. He is starred in "The Lightning Warrior," a twelve-part serial. Rin-Tin-Tin is owned and trained by Lee Duncan, who found him as a three-day-old puppy on the battlefields of France.

Ken Maynard has turned out another thriller of the west called "Fronted Men." Jane Clyde is his leading lady. Phil Rosen did the directing.

Owing to her success in "Dancers' Wives," "Bad Girl," and "Tab Hunter," Blanche Oelrichs has been assigned the leading role in "After Tomorrow." The title is tentative, but the story is described as "a comedy of tears and cheers."

The next Doug Fairbanks picture in all probability will have a South American locale.

Sally Blane and Mary Nolan have the principal feminine roles in "X Marks the Spot," newspaper yarn produced by Tiffany. Lew Cody and Fred Kohler are the male leads.

Jessie MacDonald will appear opposite Maurice Chevalier in "One Hour With You." She is also signed to be his leading lady in the picture he will make following "One Hour With You."

"Foreclosed," the new Joan Crawford flicker, was formerly titled "The Mirages." Clark Gable is her leading man.

The cast of "Second Chances," Paramount, will include Richard Bennett, Buddy Rogers, and Peggy Shannon. Frank Tuttle will handle the cast.

"This Is New York," Robert Shaw's successful play, will be made into a talkie with the title "Two Kinds of Women." Richard Arlen, Miriam Hopkins, and Wynne Gibson will be featured.

Stuart Walker, who gave Kay Francis her first stage part in his Indianapolis stock company, is directing her in "The Pale Maskers" at Paramount.

Woman Never—You through with women, man's life

BEHIND, RKO-Packs. Ina Claire all dressed up in some smart dialogue makes this suspenseful entertainment for sophisticated audiences. Story is taken from the second Opdian Stewart play of the same name. Robert Allen heads the supporting players.

Claire, looking left to right, are best friends, Dorothy Lee, Noel Wheeler and Mr. Tom. They are all in the picture, but only in "You're or She," which is said to have much to do with the dramatic value.

BECKING LIVING. Universal. Ricardo Cortez, a racketeer, tries to lure Mae Clarke away from her husband, Norman Foster is Mae's man, and he wants Ricardo's advances. Our bet is that Norman and true love will get the upper hand.

RIVERS OF THE PURPLE SAGE. Fox. When George O'Hara isn't riding rough shod over the western plains he's creating a storm in heaven, and it's all big and clean and open. We understand they're thinking of using the wide screen for George's chest expansion.

SEVEN SEVENTH. RKO-Radia. A Civil War tale, with Richard Dix as a Northern spy who falls in love with a daughter of the South. Things come to a pretty pass until Richard wins the war and marries the girl. Not bad.

SHANGHAIED LOVE. Columbia. Tough old Hank Harte's daughter, Richard Cromwell, and Richard Cromwell falls in love with Sally Blane, Hank's daughter, who is cheap just for the rip, local action stuff.

SIX SHIPS. Warner Brothers. Charles Butterworth and Winona Lightner have a perfect setting for their comedy in this romantic atmosphere, and play it her all it's worth. Evelyn Keyes and Donald Crisp have the romantic leads.

STORMS OF NEW YORK. M-G-M. Bruce Barlow is practically at his best in a story featuring plenty of laughs and no plot whatsoever. Jack Pape is the first assassin, and Cliff Edwards is the constant funny man.

Once George and Ina Claire, who have been trying to get a story, are a good deal in "Storms of New York," which is a lot like "You're or She" in that it is said to have much to do with the dramatic value.

THE BUTLER. Fox. A newspaper story that gets a bit too melodramatic is lifted above the average by the superior performance of James Dunn and Linda Watkins. Linda is an oval head model in an oval.

SPIRIT OF NOTRE DAME. Universal. The last football picture ever made. All the Indians has been removed, and the excellent cast is headed by Lew Ayres, William Bakewell, J. Farrell MacDonald, Frank Condon and Notre Dame's famed Four Horsemen.

STREET SCENE. United Artists. A faithful adaptation of Elmer Rice's great play, with Sylvia Sydney, Paula Taylor and William Collier, Jr. is the lead. One of the year's best pictures, with Sylvia Sydney's performance rating a whole column of medals.

STRICTLY DISHONORABLE. Universal. Paul Lukas doesn't mean Sidney Fox any particular good when he was here in a spy story, but things all change on the up and up, and everybody's honor is exposed.

SUNDOWN TOWN. RKO-Packs. A rip-roaring western, built along familiar lines, but full of action that will have you shouting. Tom Mix is the hard-riding westerner who wins Marion Shilling.

SUNSHINE LULLABY. M-G-M. Greta Garbo's latest. Revisited in this issue.

THE AGE FOR LOVE. Cadeia. Any lady, as beautiful as Billie Dove, doesn't need advice in just what a picture, but where she has talent along with her looks, as Billie has, she's bound to be good. Edward Everett Horton and Charles Farrell are featured.

Billie Dove doesn't need Charles Farrell to lead her. Instead, you have just Charles in "The Age for Love," which makes him a star in the series.

THE BELOVED RACHEL. Paramount. Paul Lukas adopts a little girl who grows up to be Dorothy Jordan. As soon as she does, Paul falls in love with her, but Dorothy thinks he's her father. Charlie Ruggles has a few good comedy moments. Worth seeing.

THE BAY LADY. RKO-Radia. Ivan Lohndorf, who leaves India according to the advertisement, has three of them on his hands in this one. They are Betty Compson, Genevieve Tobin and Nina Chase, and they keep your eyes in a perpetual quandary.

THE CLERKMAN. M-G-M. One of the best, drawing more comedies, with the Theatre Guild's Mr. Lund and Miss Fontaine giving it that certain touch. Not for the kiddies, but an evening of genuine mirth for you and me.

THE LAST FLIGHT. First National. A story of two new days in France and practically everywhere, with Richard

Marion Williams just can't decide whether to take him to the top of the world or to take him to the bottom of the sea. She is pictured in "The Girl Who Came to Stay."

Northrup, David Harrow, John Barth Brown and Elliott Nugent as a group of American sailors who conquer Nick (Helen Chandler) and a few other adventures.

THE MAD GENIE. Warner Brothers.
John Barrymore, with his profile plastered with makeup, is a distorted, half-mad monster who makes Donald Crisp the master of all the cinemas. Reviewed in this issue.

THE MAD PARADE. Paramount. An offensive cast, headed by Evelyn Vest, Lillian Tashman, Irene Rich and Lucille LaVerne, goes through all the motions of war. Mary has to do with a group of ambulatory idiots and their terrible lives.

THE ROAD TO SINGAPORE. Warner Brothers. William Powell, the old conscience, has the ladies simply gripping for breath every time he makes a pass at them. He finally wins a cheer from his wife (Doris Kenyon) and a good night.

THE SIN OF MADISON CLAYTON.
M.G.M. An excellent photograph, well constructed and acted in the grand manner by Helen Hayes and a competent cast. Mary has to do with a girl whom never denotes her and as her child goes to madhouse because of her identity.

THE SPIDER. Fox. A mystery drama, with Edmund Lowe as a magician who has things to do with a number one. There is no love interest, but plenty of thrills and action. It's worth a visit.

THE SQUAW MAN. M.G.M. Good R.

DeMille emerges from his lurid to turn out an excellent version of this work-dusted matter. In it you will find Warner Baxter, Lupe Velez, Charles Bickford, Roland Young and the same old plot.

THE STAR WITNESS. First National.
A protest against gangsters and their methods of intimidating honest citizens like men and women. Clara Gable has a featured role, and it can be said that she is in your films, too.

THE UNCLE GARDEN. United Artists. They've taken good old Ben, spiced it with action, gangster and intrigue, and handed it to Ronald Colman, who was probably glad to get it. We guess it's a good picture, and one you'll want to see.

TOUCHDOWN. Paramount. Another well-timed picture, starring Richard Arlen as a coach who gets his phases in the well-known G.O.D. method. Peggy Shannon is the girl, and Jack Kelly is enough as the dumb student coach.

TWENTY-FOUR HOURS. Paramount.
Oliver Hardy, who has been pretty tough lately, teams up with (Max Baerly) for an affair with William Hughes. (Bugs) Tannen, Wilson's excellent, goes out and shoots people, as Olive finally returns in Kay.

WATERLOO BRIDGE. Universal. Fine
portraits by Max Erland and Kent Burgin make this a completely understanding picture. One of a young private who meets and falls in love with a girl of the enemy.

Jack Kelly, who plays the student coach in "Touchdown," is shown here leading the coaches of the team. The picture is being run by a business contract and a share in the gate receipts.
